Premier Dental Anesthesiology News Today

Every time a dental office calls us and asks us to explain the process they are required to go through in order to begin using our services, the most common response is, "That's it?".

Allow us to explain:

1. You will receive a packet of information including a deep sedation/general anesthesia site certificate application from our office. After you fill out a couple of forms we will schedule a Sedation Monitoring Course.
2. The Sedation Monitoring Course is a one time class given to members of the dental office who will be involved in sedation cases. This four-hour course is approved by the Missouri Dental Board and it is given at no charge. The class is typically given in your office by Dr. Chris Erkmann, one of our board-certified anesthesiologists.
3. After the course, a member of the Missouri Dental Board will inspect your office to make sure your space is suitable to administer sedation. (No one has ever "failed").
4. After your inspection you will receive a certificate in the mail notifying your office that you are now site certified in administering deep sedation/general anesthesia.
5. Begin scheduling appointments.

That's it.

We want your practice to grow!

We don't stop with just treating your patients, we want to see your practice grow as well. That is why we give you all the materials necessary to educate your patients on the new service you now provide to them. We offer links on our website to dental offices that use our service and we will also help you with the verbiage necessary in your own advertising that will set you apart from any other dental office that is not using Premier. If you would like to know how 60+ dental offices like using us, please visit our website for their contact information:
