Premier Dental Anesthesiology News

The face behind the newsletter

Well, I thought I was safe. I have enjoyed writing about the growing success of our business and I love highlighting our staff, so, when my administrator suggested me to highlight yours truly, I was less than thrilled. However, I'm a team player, so I'll play along.

I started working for Premier one year ago. Previously, I worked in marketing and customer relations for an internet travel company. I am a Nerinx Hall grad (go Markers!) and hold my B.S. in Broadcast Journalism from Wash U. My husband, Tim and I currently live in a historical part of South City where we spent 2 ½ years gut-rehabbing our home.

I chose to work for Premier because I saw great potential for this service. I love traveling around and meeting the different dental staffs, but even more so, the most rewarding part of any day is when both the dental office and the patient realize how easy their procedure was after working with us. I always just want to say, "See...told you so!"

Yep, it's a long address, however, it is worth the extra key strokes, as we have diligently been working on our new site and invite you to take a peek. You may even want to bookmark it as we will constantly be adding new content, pictures and even video!
